Media Profiles The Life Of A Metro Bus Rider

A reporter from the Spanish language station TV Azteca America requested permission to film a Metro bus passenger during her daily commute. She works as a maid in several locations around West Los Angeles and uses public transportation to go to her various jobs. The reporter and a cameraman followed her last Friday and again today as part of the report. The story will air later this week.

Metro Gold Line Express Service

Various electronic media ran stories this morning on the start-up of the Metro Gold Line Express Service. Channel 34 was at the Sierra Madre Villa station today to film the express trains as they arrived and departed the station. Media Relations staff explained the peak hours schedule service and sent them a press release. A story will run this evening.
