Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery

When funded, these projects will implement key provisions of priority state and regional goods movement plans, providing long-term benefits including: promoting safety, improving mobility, and reducing bottlenecks in the system and assisting those communities most affected by the current economic downturn. Together, the projects will sustain

$6.8 billion of economic activity in Southern California, generating 52,490 annual full-time equivalent jobs with earnings of $2.19 billion. ARRA TIGER funding for the projects will sustain $924 million of economic activity in Southern California, generating 7,160 annual full-time equivalent jobs with earnings of $297.6 million.
