

DART AIMING AT NEW SITE FOR MONORAIL PLAN

ANAHEIM--Officials of Duorail Aerospace Rapid Transit Corp. of Los Angeles, rebuffed in their bid for Anaheim sponsorship of a monorail system between Knott's Berry Farm and Disneyland, will push their promotion elsewhere.

Keith Murdoch, Anaheim city manager, said a spokesman for the company has informed him an attempt will be made to get another (unnamed) city to back the project.

Anaheim turned down a proposal to sponsor the multi-million-dollar, 6 mi. system because it was opposed to the use of federal funds to build it.
