

MTA Will Mail W-2 Forms to Employees This Year

(Jan. 26) This year, the MTA will mail W-2 forms to employees' homes or designated addresses instead of handing them out in the workplace.

"The MTA, as the employer, is required to issue W-2s no later than January 31," said Terry Matsumoto, executive officer, Finance.

"Employees should receive them within the first four days of February."

Lingering Y2K issues

Matsumoto said lingering Y2K issues with certain computer programs were factors in the decision to mail the W-2 forms this year. And, with Jan. 31 falling on a Monday, there would not be sufficient time, he said, to route the W-2s to all MTA locations and still comply with the law.

Any problems in receiving the W-2s should be reported to the Payroll Hotline at 922-2106.
