(Dec. 22, 2003) Winning award after award, West Valley Division 8 recently took home another "How You Doin'?" award for Outstanding Transportation Division for the months of August and September.

"Winning this award is a clear indication that our operators are doing a good job," says Transportation Manager Maria Reynolds. "I think this division is doing well and we're going to continue to keep that going. I'm excited."

For the month of August, Division 8 scored the best in in-service on-time performance and running hot. They also reduced the number of accidents.

For September, the team significantly reduced the number of accidents and new Workers Compensation claims.

Sector General Manager David Armijo congratulated the team with a trophy for their hard work and dedication.
