

HomeCEO HotlineViewpointClassified AdsArchivesMetro.net (web)

Resources

SafetyPressroom (web)Ask the CEOCEO ForumEmployee RecognitionEmployee ActivitiesMetro ProjectsFacts at a Glance
(web)ArchivesEvents Calendar[Research Center/
Library](#)Metro ClassifiedsBazaar

Metro Info

30/10 InitiativePoliciesTrainingHelp DeskIntranet Policy

Need e-Help?

Call the Help Desk
at 2-4357

Contact myMetro.net

TOS Monique Newman of the Bus Operations Center and her 2 ½-year-old twins, Jeremiah (Robin) and Javaughn (Batman), were on hand for the parade.

Witches, Goblins, Super Heroes Haunt Metro at Halloween

(Oct. 31, 2006) The sun hadn't even set on All Hallows Eve before a witch's brew of goblins, super heroes, princesses, fairies, ghosts and other things that go bump in the night descended on Metro Headquarters.

Led by children from the Gateway Child Development Center, the 9th annual Halloween Parade circled through the Plaza level foyer where the kids gathered a tummy-bustin' collection of candies and treats.

Most of the kids were all smiles, but some were stunned by the turnout of admiring adults and by their own appearance... and there were the usual tears from some little ones who had just had too much for one day.

A witch's coven of pumpkins, scary wrestlers and even a Minnie Mouse were on hand to greet the kids from the Child Development Center during Tuesday's Halloween Parade.