MTA HOSTS RAIL TOUR IN HONOR OF "TAKE OUR DAUGHTERS TO WORK" DAY

WHAT: The MTA hosts more than 100 girls -- daughters of employees and guests of local schools -- who will ride the rails as part of the national "Take Our Daughters to Work Day." The girls, accompanied by their hosts and sponsors, will board a Metro Blue Line train in downtown Los Angeles and ride to the Central Control Facility in Willowbrook, the nerve center of the system, to learn first-hand how MTA coordinates its rail operations.

WHEN: Thursday, April 27, 1995
1:45 p.m.

WHERE: Metro Center Station
Seventh and Figueroa streets, mezzanine level
Downtown Los Angeles
