Go Metro to Special Hollywood Bowl Shows and Receive a Free Gift

Metro passengers who attend Hewitt/Silva rock concerts at the Hollywood Bowl this year will receive a free gift just for going Metro. And it's easy, since the Metro Red Line subway connects with a free shuttle to the bowl near the Hollywood/Highland Station.

To receive the gift Metro patrons need only show valid Metro passes or tickets at the Global Inheritance booth at the ticket entrance to the Hollywood Bowl between 5 and 9 p.m. on the day of the performance. Concerts include Morrissey, June 8; John Mayer, June 9 and 10; Roger Waters, June 13; Rush, July 23; Dave Mathews Band, Oct. 1 and 2 and Genesis, Oct. 12 and 13.

The Hollywood Bowl shuttle departs from the Hollywood/Highland Orange Court near the Metro Red Line Station every 15 minutes, starting about 2 1/2 hours before performances begin, until show time. And it's free to Metro riders showing valid passes and tickets.

Catch the shuttle on Orange Drive (at Orange Court) just one block west of the Hollywood/Highland Station, between Hollywood Boulevard and Franklin Avenue. Passengers will be dropped off near the Bowl box office. To return, board at the Bowl bus loading area. Shuttles continue the return route to the Hollywood/Highland Orange Court stop for 25 minutes after the show concludes.

For more information on the shuttle and Hollywood Bowl programs call (323) 850-2000 or visit www.hollywoodbowl.com. To plan the best route to the Metro Hollywood/Highland Station, call 1-800-COMMUTE, or use the Trip Planner at www.metro.net.
