Go Metro to “We The People” Festival and Receive a Free Limited Edition Poster

Go Metro to the “We the People” festival on Saturday, September 27 at the Los Angeles State Historic Park located near Chinatown in downtown Los Angeles. The festival is America's premiere entertainment & music festival for social consciousness and will feature musical bands throughout the day that include Les Claypool, the RZA and EPMD. The festival will run from 2 p.m. to midnight. '

Metro riders attending the event can receive a free limited edition poster by showing their valid Metro Pass, Metro Rail ticket or Metro Destination Discounts card at the “We the People” information booth. Quantities are limited to the first 1,000 visitors.

To get there patrons can take the Metro Gold Line and get off at Chinatown Station. The Los Angeles State Historic Park is less than a block away, located at 1245 North Spring Street. For customized route information, use the Metro Trip Planner at metro.net or call 1-800-COMMUTE. For additional information about the event, go to www.wethepeoplefestival.com.
