Artist to Sign Metro 'Claremont' Poster on Friday

Reporters Updated on Crenshaw/LAX Transit Corridor Project

Today, I informed the LA Sentinel/LA Watts Times, Wave Newspapers and Our Weekly on the next steps for the Crenshaw/LAX Transit Corridor Project. I acknowledged and thanked our board members for their support in securing funds for the Leimert Park and Hindry stations and spoke briefly about the significance of those stations for the community. Stories are expected to run today and next week.

Artist to Sign Metro 'Claremont' Poster on Friday

Artist Jessica Polzin McCoy will sign free copies of her poster celebrating the City of Claremont at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, May 31, 2013 at the Claremont Library. Polzin McCoy was commissioned by Metro Creative Services to create the artwork for its poster series, Through the Eyes of Artists. The program commissions local artists to create original artworks that express the uniqueness of Los Angeles County neighborhoods as a way of encouraging people to take Metro to explore destinations served by the agency. Beginning in Spring 2013, the poster will be displayed on Metro buses and rail cars traveling throughout Los Angeles County. KABC-TV News will be covering the poster signing event. Click here to see the poster and for more information about the Through the Eyes of Artists poster series.
