DEFINITIONS

The APTA Transit Ridership Report contains data for total unlinked transit passenger trips. The Pre-1978 predecessor to this report --the Monthly Transit Traffic report--contained data for revenue passengers and is not directly comparable.

Unlinked Transit Passenger Trip is a trip on one transit vehicle regardless of the type of fare paid or transfer presented. A person riding only one vehicle from origin to destination takes ONE unlinked passenger trip; a person who transfers to a second vehicle takes TWO unlinked passenger trips; a person who transfers to a third vehicle takes THREE unlinked passenger trips. The number of unlinked transit passenger trips is about two to four passenger times higher than the number of people riding transit: most people take two trips per day; those who transfer take four or six. The transit dependent may take ten or twelve.
