

Two Bells is the official monthly publication of the Los Angeles Railway, published for the employes by the Bureau of Public Service. It is a medium of expression by which every man and woman in the Company is privileged to contribute his or her ideas and talents.

Two Bells is twenty-five years old, having been established June 7, 1920. The first Two Bells was a weekly news style, and incorporated in it were the usual bulletins to the men. It became a monthly magazine in September, 1928, and has continued as such to this day.
