

NEWS

MEDIA ADVISORY

February 16, 1995

MTA HOSTS FIRST-OF-ITS KIND TELECOMMUNICATIONS WORKSHOP IN INNER CITY

WHAT: South Central and Southeast Los Angeles community leaders will hold a workshop on the Blue Line TeleVillage, a community-based computing, information and service center to be located in June at the Compton Transit Center. A unique MTA demonstration project, the TeleVillage will provide inner city residents -- including children -- and organizations access to computer technology and the MTA's fiber optic communications system.

VISUALS: Computers and other technological inventions

WHEN: FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1995
8:30 a.m.

WHERE: Compton Transit Center (across street from Compton Blue Line station)
307 N. Tamarind Ave.
Compton
Parking available at rear of building.
See Thomas Bros. Map, page 734 J-3

INVITED: Yvonne Brathwaite Burke, L.A. County Supervisor and
MTA Director
Omar Bradley, Mayor of Compton
Dan Wright, MTA coordinator in charge of project

CONTACT: Andrea Greene, MTA Media Relations (213) 244-6943
Media Relations General Number: (213) 244-6347

#

MTA-046
Workshop.adv
AG:rp:02.16.95